Long Lives, Community Report Card the Focus of Eighth Annual Health Summit
Event Is Live Well Omaha's 20th Anniversary

Tony Buettner, who has traveled the world for three decades to learn the secrets of living longer and healthier lives, has been named the keynote luncheon speaker for the Eighth Annual Omaha Health Summit on Oct. 22 at the Embassy Suites Omaha-Downtown, presented by Live Well Omaha and WELLCOM.

Buettner, Vice President of Product and Development for Blue Zones – a firm dedicated to helping people live better and longer - will share the lessons he's learned and link those lessons to local efforts promoting healthier living.

The morning keynote will feature the release of the triennial Community Health Needs Assessment data in partnership with Bruce Lockwood of Professional Research Consultants and Dr. Adi Pour, Director of the Douglas County Health Department.

"This annual event is a highlight of the wellness calendar," said Sarah Sjolie, Executive Director of Live Well Omaha. "It's the best chance you'll have all year to join other people in sharing ideas that will have a collective impact on the health and wellness of our community."

"There's a reason the Health Summit has become an annual highlight," said WELLCOM President and CEO Rebecca Vinton. "We have worked hard to make sure this year's event meets our standards."

The Eighth Annual Health Summit includes breakout sessions and presentations on B-Cycle 101, a Tour of Healthy Omaha, and more. Any person or firm interested in sponsorships or being an exhibitor at the event should contact WELLCOM or Live Well Omaha at info@elevatingwellness.org for more information, or call Sarah Sjolie at (402) 616-8942, or Rebecca Vinton at (402) 934-5795.

Presenting sponsors for the Eighth Annual Health Summit are CHI Health, Mutual of Omaha, and Valmont.
